2018 Henschke Hill Of Grace Shiraz	Eden Valley, SA	1185
The word on the palate is elegance. The fruit soars in blackcurrant pastille, black fruits, briar, earth, bramble, toasted spice, supported by once again the most magical and lifted floral aromatics in violet and rose. A fine web of tannins offers a deeper insight, one that is dense and firm. Wow.

Lots of dark black fruit, thick layers of plum with plenty of plush, velvety tannins boxed in with cigar and a hint of vanilla. The alcohol is constrained, surprising when you think the heat in Morocco, (not that I've been there) but it supports the length of the wine nicely.
